Little Hope Seen for Early Westvaco Strike Settlement

For the first time in its 17 years of operation, the Newark plant of the Westvaco Chemical Division Food Machinery & Chemical Corporation is completely closed down pending settlement of a labor dispute.

The strike was called by the International Chemical Workers Union, Local 62, A.F.L., on November 21 at the expiration of their contract. Idled by the strike are 190 chemical workers union members and six members of the Electrical Workers Union, Local 595, A.F.L.

Joe Seoane Jr., Decoto, union spokesman, said yesterday that no meeting has been held between union and company representatives since the strike was called. He stated that union officials had sent a letter to the company last Friday stating that they were willing to continue their negotiations for a new contract whenever such a meeting would be called by the company.

Company officials said yesterday that no meeting had been scheduled in the immediate future.

"It looks like a long one," Seoane said yesterday in referring to the strike. He stated that the union "anticipates" a three or four month shutdown.

Major changes sought in the new contract by the union are:

1. Optional rather than compulsory overtime.

2. The contract to expire in June rather than November.

3. A 15 cents per hour wage increase.

4. Seven paid holidays per year instead of the present six.

5. Three weeks paid vacation for workers after five years instead of the present 15 years with the company.

6. Sick benefits to begin the first day instead of the fourth day.

7. A revision in the present arbitration procedure.

8. A closed union shop.

Representing the union at the negotiations, which were held for 60 days prior to the contract expiration, were Joseph Silva, Fred Armstrong, James Vance, Joseph Sunseri and Joe Seaone Jr., of Local 62. Other union men taking part in the negotiations were: Robert Ash of the Central Labor Council; Drew Taylor, international representative, and Bob Nicely, executive board member of the Central Labor Council.

Federal conciliators at the negotiation meetings were Wayne Keneston, William Foley and Ralph Williams.

PLANNING ENGINEER ADDRESSES LIONS CLUB

John Thomas, engineer for the Alameda County Planning Commission, was the guest speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Centerville Lions Club.

Thomas spoke on community zoning ordinances and then conducted a question and answer period at the completion of his talk.

$900 IN STADIUM LIGHTING SCRIP TO BE REDEEMED

Officials of the Executive Lighting Committee of Memorial Stadium at Centerville announced this week that $900 in scrip will be redeemed next week from gate receipts at the past season's football games.

The drawing to determine the order of the scrip redemption will be held Monday at the school, according to Warren Gravestock, committee chairman.

This year's $900 will bring the total amount of scrip redeemed to $4,500 in the four years since it was sold and the lights installed at the stadium. A total of $10,500 in scrip was sold, and as of next week the balance to be redeemed will be $6,000.

Gravestock stated that the scrip purchased by individuals is being redeemed first. He expressed belief that the remainder of the scrip held by individuals could be redeemed with next year's returns. The committee will then begin redeeming the scrip held by organizations of the township.

Members of the committee, in addition to Gravestock, are: Tom Maloney, vice-president; Vernon Ellsworth, secretary; and L. S. Williams, treasurer.

MISSION OPENS AT HOLY GHOST SUNDAY

A mission, to be conducted by Father James J. Harrington of the Paulist Fathers, will open at the Church of the Holy Ghost in Centerville on Sunday, December 3, and continue throughout the week.

The announcement was made this week by the pastor, Father Charles O'Connor, who extends an invitation to all Catholics and non-Catholics who are interested in learning more about the church to attend.

Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. and the masses during the mission at 6:30 and 8 a.m.

Sermon topics for the week will be: "Why Am I Living"; "The Ingratitude of Man"; "Death and Eternity"; 'Christ in Us"; "The Merciful Christ"; "The Catholic Home"; "No Truer Friend," and "Christ or Chaos."

In addition there will be a question box from which querries of interest to Catholics and non-Catholics will be drawn and fully explained.

2 NILES BOYS GET HIGH SCOUT AWARD

Thomas K. Champion and George Roeding Jr. of Niles will receive their Eagle Badges, highest award in the Scouting program, tonight (Friday).

The badges will be presented at the Council Eagle Court of Honor to be held in Judge Shine's court room at the Alameda County court house, Oakland. Judge Allen G. Norris of Centerville, council president, will preside.

Both Champion and Roeding are now assistant Scoutmasters of Niles Troop 2. Thomas Robbins, Scoutmaster, and members of the families of the two Scouters and Scouts and committeemen of the Niles Troop, will accompany the young men to the ceremony.

LIBRARIAN RESIGNS AT WARM SPRINGS

The resignation of Mrs. Rose Steinmetz as librarian at the Warm Springs branch library was announced yesterday by Dorothy Roberts, county librarian.

Miss Roberts stated that anyone interested in taking over the part-time job may apply by writing to her at the Alameda County Library, Court House, Oakland.

FEDERAL, STATE AID SOUGHT FOR LOCAL FLOOD CONTROL

Permanent flood control of Alameda Creek will cost approximately $4,000,000, it was revealed Wednesday by the advisory board of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

Meeting at a time when a large section of the county was still recovering from a critical flood situation, the board members are faced with the problem of attempting to slash governmental red tape to receive state and federal aid at the earliest date possible.

A preliminary study of Alameda Creek has been completed by the U. S. Army Engineers and sent East, but a detailed survey must be first ordered and completed before Congress will grant appropriations.

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors, ex-officio members of the flood control district, were urged to request from state representatives and Alameda County's congressional representatives that they ask for a speed-up of the final survey.

PLAN EXPLAINED

Under the Federal-aid plan, the U. S. pays for the construction of flood control systems, the state pays for lands, easements and rights-of-way, and the local district pays for any special work not essential to flood control and accepts and maintains the projects built.

Herbert Crowle, engineer for the newly-formed flood control district, reported that damage by Alameda Creek might have been greater if Calaveras Reservoir had not held back much of the water.

John Haley, supervising hydraulic engineer, advanced the theory that in order to solve the problem reservoir sites should be located in stream areas to store water, both for conservation and flood control.

NO TEMPORARY AID

In the meantime, immediate state aid will be sought at a December 5 hearing in Sacramento of the Assembly Interim Committee on Conservation Planning and Public Works. That body will hear from districts suffering from the storm of November 16-20 and make recommendations to the legislature on issuance of special funds to aid local governments with their flood problems.

The local flood board, after an extensive survey of possible ways to prevent recurrence of damage suffered in the storm, agreed that the magnitude of the problem is so great that no temporary solution is possible. It will take the federal projects to solve it, they decided.

SEASON'S RAINFALL TOTALS 7.44 INCHES

Rainfall during the past week continued to keep the season's total far ahead of all previous years, according to the tabulations maintained at the Southern Pacific depot in Niles.

The only measurable rainfall during the week was .30 of an inch Wednesday night, but it brought the season's total, since July 1, to 7.44 inches, far over the 2.17 inches recorded during the same period last year.

Alameda County Water District officials reported that the storm of two weeks ago has shown little effect thus far in the underground water table, but stated that the percolation pit at Niles has been filled to the brim to conserve water that would have otherwise been wasted into the bay.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK BRIGHT AS YULE SEASON NEARS

The festive holiday atmosphere settled over Washington Township this week with all its enchantment of gay lights, sparkling tinsel, fragrance of pine boughs and mysterious packages.

The behavior of the youngsters took a sudden and decided turn to the better as they stood in open-mouthed awe watching merchants pile their stores full of Christmas gift items.

Christmas lights have been hung, or will be hung, in all of the communities to brighten the shopping centers.

Of particular interest to local merchants is the fact that the four banks in Washington Township are now mailing Christmas Club checks totaling $75,129 to local residents who have been building up a "nest egg" for their Christmas shopping during the past 12 months.

With the stores crammed with the latest merchandise and the home folks armed with the necessary wampum, it should add up to a gay 1950 Christmas in Washington Township.

A word of warning was issued yesterday by the Number One resident of the North Pole, cautioning shoppers that there are but 20 shopping days remaining before Christmas.

NEWARK BOY SCOUT CHARTER RENEWED

The application of the Newark Chamber of Commerce to renew the charter for their Boy Scout Troop 1 of Newark for the coming year was approved last week by the Southern District Charter Review Board. John Cattaneo and E. Dixon Bristow, members of the board, awarded recognition seals to the unit for growth in membership, outdoor program and for civic service.

The following men will serve with the Troop, according to Clark Redeker, committee chairman; J. I. MacGregor, institutional representative; Lee Olk, Arthur Cotton, Henry Lewis, and T. G. Gunn, committeemen; George Ford, Scoutmaster; Franklin Brown, advisor, and T. G. Gunn Jr., assistant scoutmaster.

CONSTRUCTION OF MEMORIAL BUILDING ANNEX IS DENIED

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors was notified Tuesday that federal building restrictions will not permit the construction of the proposed annex to the Veterans Memorial Building in Niles.

In announcing the ruling from the federal building priority agencies, Supervisor Chester E. Stanley stated that the construction had been denied under the section prohibiting strategic materials being used in buildings devoted to amusement purposes.

The $60,000 annex to the present Memorial Building had been approved by the supervisors and the funds included in the 1950-51 budget. Stanley said Tuesday that the $60,000 would be transferred to the county's general fund.

The proposed annex was to include a 45x45-foot dining hall, renovated kitchen, club room, rest room and ladies auxiliary meeting hall.

Stanley stated, however, that the new federal restrictions would not affect the branch county building, soon to be constructed on Fremont Avenue, midway between Centerville and Niles.

Actual construction on the new $200,000 county building is expected to get under way next spring.

CENTERVILLE CALLS ZONING HEARING

A public meeting for a discussion of a zoning ordinance for Centerville has been called for the evening of January 8 by the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will be held at Washington Union High School and all property owners of the community are urged to attend. Representatives from the Alameda County Planning Commission will be present with maps showing their recommendations for various areas of the community.

The meeting was scheduled last Friday at a special meeting between representatives of the Planning Commission and a committee from the Chamber.

Through its action this week Centerville became the sixth community of Washington Township to take steps to provide a pattern for future growth by means of a zoning ordinance. Newark, Irvington and Decoto already have zoning ordinances. Niles and Warm Springs have held preliminary hearings on zoning possibilities.

BEET GROWERS TO MEET HERE DEC. 13

The annual election of officers of District 1 of the California Beet Growers Association will be held at a meeting scheduled for December 13 at the International Kitchen, Niles.

James C. Simons of Brawley, president of the State Association, will attend the meeting to review the work of the association during the past year.

The immediate formation of a Civil Defense Council with units in each of the communities of Washington Township is to be undertaken by the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce.

At their meeting Wednesday evening at Warm Springs, the delegates to the Township Chamber expressed concern over the delay in setting up a defense organization here and voted unanimously to accept the responsibility of the formation of units to serve in the event of a disaster.

Immediately after the meeting Executive Secretary Gene Manning dispatched a letter to Stanley N. Petersen, sheriff's deputy assigned to head the civil defense program, asking that he meet with the Township Chamber at his earliest convenience to outline procedures.

In his letter to Peterson, Manning stated: "Feeling that the organization of a Civil Defense Council has been delayed too long already, and in order to prevent further delay in making selections for persons to serve as the nucleus for such a council, the Township Chamber of Commerce has assumed the responsibility of forming such a unit themselves."

Manning's letter went on to state that the delegates to the Gene Manning, executive secretary of the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce, announced late yesterday that he had succeeded in arranging a meeting of the newly formed Civil Defense Council with Deputy Sheriff Stanley N. Petersen for 8 p.m. Thursday, December 7, at the Justice Court in Centerville.

Township Chamber would be supplemented on the Defense Council by additional persons in each community as the needs arise.

In his report on the lack of progress here toward the formation of a defense corps, Manning told the Chamber members Wednesday evening that units are already established and functioning in Livermore, Pleasanton, San Leandro and other neighboring communities.

He stated that the response to the appeal for volunteers to serve in the event of disaster has been disheartening here. Only 51 persons had filled out the civil defense volunteer enlistment forms as of yesterday.

Manning said that the applications are available at every post office in the township or at his office at 156 South Main Street, Centerville.

It was pointed out that residents of Mission San Jose will be asked to select a committee from their community to serve on the Defense Council. Mission is not represented in the Township Chamber of Commerce.

The delegates to the Township Chamber who will also serve as members of the Defense Council are: Harry Weber, Allan Walton and Dallas Paul, Centerville; Judge E. A. Quaresma, Vernon Ellsworth and Peter Juhl, Niles; A. E. Alameda, Allan Hirsch and Carl Christensen, Irvington; James O'Connor, Paul Gygax and Gordon Cotton, Newark; Leslie Maffey, Walter Oakey and George Oakes, Alvarado; Manuel Secane, Bernie Joseph and Ken Garcia, Decoto, and Mrs. Elizabeth Sloan, John Souza and Bruce Michael, Warm Springs.

IRVINGTON SOLDIER A PRIZE WINNER IN REGISTER CONTEST

A wounded Irvington soldier, home on leave from the fighting in Korea, was one of the winners in The Register's "Guess Where" Contest last week.

He is J. C. Gregory, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Gregory of 133 Mission Street, Irvington. The young soldier, who was recently shot down by sniper's bullets in Korea, was the twentieth person to telephone the correct answers to the mystery picture.

First to call and correctly identify the picture was Manuel Swartz, employee at the Southern Pacific depot in Niles. Swartz had called his answers on each of the preceding weeks' contests but last week's was the first time his answers won him one of the two cash prizes.

Nearly one-fourth of the 36 persons who telephoned their answers failed to identify the subject of the picture as the old De Guadalupe Mission at Mission San Jose. Several contestants guessed it to be the old adobe at the California Nursery, while others thought it was the Veterans Memorial Building at Niles.

The first twenty persons to correctly identify the picture were: Manuel Swartz, Niles; Mrs. Raphael Guerra, Decoto; Mrs. E. C. Parks, Niles; Donald Martin, Decoto; Mrs. Ernest Frei, Centerville; Al Perez, Niles; Anthony Rogers, Mission San Jose; Pat Guerra, Decoto; Donald Bragg, Decoto; Mrs. Tony Rivers, Centerville; Karen Kay, Centerville; Helen Bettencourt, Newark.

Jerry Rebello, Niles; John Franco, Niles; Mrs. Leon Vieux, Niles; Ray Alberts, Newark; Mrs. Anna Leal, Irvington; Diane Roeding, Niles; Mrs. R. O. Grace, Newark; and J. C. Gregory, Irvington.

This week's quiz picture appears at the bottom of the page. The mystery lies not in what the subject of the picture is, but where it is located.

When you think you know, telephone The Register, Niles 3261 or 3221, after 9 a.m., and if you are the first or twentieth to give the correct answers you will receive a check for $2.50.

PASTURE TESTS PAY OFF WELL

Fertilization of dry alfalfa pastures is proving advantageous to Southern Alameda County ranchers and cattlemen, an experimental program on a hundred acres of the John Coelho ranch at Mission San Jose has proved, according to Walter H. Johnson, farm advisor.

Records kept on the project, according to Johnson, indicate that for every three acres, one cow can be pasture-fed with no additional feed. Recently, 98 head of cattle were taken from the pasture showing a consistent gain of weight during summer when native pastures are dry and of little feed value.

Figures on the Coelho experiment are based on 40 acres of of alfalfa and 60 acres of hay and grain land. Coelho is planning to plant another 50 acres this fall.

Other ranches where fertilization plots on dry land pastures were harvested this year are Ed Chadbournes at Mission San Jose, Herman Koopman's at Pleasanton, Armand Bankhead's at Livermore, Guy Warren's in Cull Canyon at Hayward, and Lew Galbraith's at Alta Vista.

Johnson credits chiefly the application of nitrogen for the excellent results obtained on the dry land pastures. At the Chadbourne plot 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre increased the oat and vetch crop by nearly 100 per cent.

One plot on L. J. Tescher's irrigated pasture at Santa Rita showed a yield increase of over 100 per cent from the application of nitrogen.

Continued trials on fertilization practices are necessary, Johnson says, in order to determine the true value of pasture fertilization. This is obvious in circumstances where a carry-over increase was realized the second year without additional fertilization and in other cases additional applications the second season showed no benefits.

LEARN HOW TO REMEMBER--OR TO FORGET

ROTARIANS HEAR THE ANSWERS AT LUNCH

"It isn't only the things you want to remember, but the things you want to forget, that make a memory course so valuable," said Tom Sawyer, director of the Institute of Impressive Public Speaking before members of the Rotary Club of Niles and their lady guests, Thursday, at the International Kitchen.

"Most men have a skeleton in the closet that they would like to forget," he continued. This statement was met with sheepish looks and self-conscious laughter by the Rotarians, who looked guardedly at their wives sitting beside them.

The tense moment was soon over, though, and the memory expert went on to relate the advantages of a good memory not only in a social life but in business as well. "Remembering names can be one of your greatest assets in business," he affirmed, and then went on to relate the story of an 83-year-old man who was introduced to a hundred people at one time — and remembered every name after the introductions were over!

"In everyday life, too," he added, "you'll find that a good memory can save you a lot of trouble." He told about people who forget where they parked their cars and who forget phone numbers as soon as they've closed the phone book. "Think of the saving of wear and tear on the nervous system if you develop a good memory," he said.

A demonstration of what a good memory can do for you was then made it with the assistance his companion, Miss Ann Singer, instructor of Roth Memory Training and author of the book: "The Value of a Good Memory."

Miss Singer put on a remarkable demonstration that left the audience gasping over what seemed an almost uncanny aptitude. It was a blackboard test that involved remembering 30 compound words and their respective identifying figures. Miss Singer, blindfolded, remembered every one.

"There's nothing occult or psychic about this demonstration of Miss Singer's," said Sawyer. "It's simply an example of good memory development."

Clarence Lesser, program chairman for the day, concluded the program by telling the audience, "I myself am studying in one of Miss Singer's memory classes in— in— in—"

"Berkeley," supplied Miss Singer, who added, laughing, that Mr. Lesser had only just completed his second lesson.

THE TOWNSHIP CAN DO MORE

This is the season for whist parties, teas, dances, and other varieties of social activities. Washington Township, one might say, has launched its gayest social season. Every organization here has made, or is making, plans for Christmas parties.

There is one plan, however, which the clubs and organizations have overlooked. That is a plan whereby our fighting men in Korea, who will have nothing of this Yuletide gaiety, may have the life-saving blood that is the best and most merciful gift we could make to them.

With the increase of activity on the fighting front, with our troops being surrounded by Chinese Reds, the demand for blood for our wounded is becoming more and more urgent.

If it is impossible for the mobile Red Cross blood bank to come to the township (and because of personnel shortages, it has been) it isn't impossible for the township to go to the blood bank.

Before any other projects are considered, every organization and club in the township should sponsor car pools so that members can go up to Red Cross headquarters in Oakland in groups to donate their blood.

The township's organizations went all-out for aid to our boys during the second World War. They can be depended upon again to lend assistance to our fighting men who are trying to prevent a third World War.

A Merry Christmas? How can it be when we have not done all we can to protect those who are protecting us?

PROGRESS—AT A PRICE

Washington Township residents will always remember the "Great Plague of 1950." The plague, in this case, is not a death-dealing disease, but is a destructive force that has ravaged the earth—at least the earth in Washington Township—as much as any plague in history.

We are speaking of the construction crews — becoming more popularly known as DEstruction crews—which are laying sewer pipes, water mains, etc., in the various new subdivision tracts in the township.

These pipes have to be put in, of course; granted, too, that in order to lay them, streets must be torn up and trenches must be dug. But it is not granted that these streets have to remain dug up and that these trenches have to lie as yawning traps for unlucky motorists.

These "destructors" have become trap-happy, setting out to trap the poor resident of a subdivision into all sorts of mires, mud-holes, trenches that have been camouflaged to look as though they'd hold the weight of a car, and washboard ruts in the roads that would shame a roller-coaster.

The contractors responsible for this upheaval ought to be brought to account. They are not doing a good job.

I wrote a column in 1949 entitled "Water—Or What Fun We Have on Sunday."

Because I am going through the identical experience now, a year later, I am reprinting the column. It is just as apropos today as it was a year ago.

Since the recent rainstorms I suddenly seem to have become a body surrounded by water. Water is all around me—or so it seems. All I hear, day and night, is water, WATER. It is not the kids calling for drinks at night (they are past that age). It is my husband. He has become very water-conscious.

Do we go on Sunday drives any more across the bay, or down towards San Jose? No, we do not. We go up to Niles Canyon and look at the flow of water in the creek. One look is enough to convince me that there is ample water in it. I am satisfied that we will not have to ration water this summer. So I suggest that we go home and dig in the garden or something.

But he stands there, gazing at the creek with a rapturous expression on his face. He keeps saying over and over, "Just look at that water!" I look at it once again. It makes me happy, of course, to know that the farmers around here won't suffer a drought, but I can't seem to become emotional over it. I say flatly, "It looks muddy. I'd rather see the water at home—preferably coming out of a hose on to some new plants which we haven't got yet."

He fails to take the hint, and I realize that another Sunday is slipping by without us having procured so much as a nasturtium to put in our new garden.

He gives the creek one last farewell glance and we climb into the car. "Now," he says, with eagerness creeping into his voice, "let's go down and look at the dam!"

I climb meekly and silently (my friends will likely deny this) into the car and we trudge off through mud down to the dam. "There!" he exclaims, "just look at that! That will conserve the water. No longer will it run off into the bay. Think what it will mean to the wells around here."

I dutifully start thinking, but can't seem to put my mind to it. My thoughts go wandering off into things like "Will the kids find that bag of cookies I hid in the washing machine?" and then I go on speculating on just how many cookies a boy can eat without suffering a relapse.

"It's wonderful what they can do!" I heard my husband saying.

"Yes, but how can they hold so much?" I ask vaguely.

"It's a feat of engineering," he replies, and suddenly I realize he is still with the dam.

After another brief excursion up to Stoneybrook Canyon to see how the flow is up there, we eventually arrive home. It is, of course, too late to go to a nursery to buy plants.

"I'm thirsty," he says. "Got any cokes?"

"No, dear," I say sweetly, "but how about a glass of water?"

The irony is lost. He takes a big glass of water and quaffs it off with obvious relish, then takes a look at the darkening sky. "H'mm," he opines, happily, "it's going to rain tonight. Guess I'll turn in early. I've got to attend a big water meeting tomorrow."

My youngest just then starts turning on the water in the bath tub. "Not tonight!" I yell at him. "No baths tonight!"

"But, mom," is the startled reply, "you're always wantin' me to take baths. Gee whiz, just when I get in the mood—"

"Take it in the morning," I reply firmly. "I can't stand the sound of running water tonight."

OLD-FASHIONED THRIFT

A story of a type that is becoming less and less frequent nowadays was told recently by a reader of the Los Angeles Times in a letter to that paper. The writer, who signed himself "W.S.," indicated that he could not understand how people today fail to make ends meet. He thinks most of them are simply unthrifty.

Of his own life, "W.S." said he had nothing when he married, back in 1917. After six months in rented quarters, he and his wife combined their savings with the little they could borrow and began paying on their own home. Eventually they paid off their home debt.

Troubles came—sickness and the like—which they met by borrowing on the home. They repaid such loans as they could. They reared and educated a daughter. Today, "W.S." proudly states, he still owns his home clear of debt, carries $6,000 in life insurance. He adds that he never earned more than $200 a month in his life.

MORE COMMON NEWS

William A. Barr, assistant superintendent of charities for Los Angeles County, has reported on the case of a widow with children, as follows: "This family's monthly aid to needy children budget, computed in accordance with state's standards, amounted to $264.78. The family is well cared for, well clothed . . . In addition to the legitimate obligations for the home, furniture, bedding, clothing purchased on time, this family has obligated itself for a $356 television set, additional furniture and household appliances—the total of which requires a monthly payment of $43."

Mr. Barr closes this case history with this significant paragraph: "This family is living on a scale far in excess of that provided by the father to his death. He had been . . . earning a maximum of $8 a day or approximately $175 a month."

SOARING RELIEF COSTS

No humane citizen begrudges the taxes necessary to provide essentials of decent living to all those—the old, the young, the handicapped—who are in need because they cannot care for themselves.

But the prudent, saving man, who cuts the coat of his luxuries to fit the cloth of his income, and whose taxes support those on relief, may well wonder if he is not getting the short end of the deal when those he supports often live better than he does! And he may well wonder whether old-fashioned thrift has not gone completely out of style when he reads that a widow's family on relief actually can set up a scale of living above that provided by the bread-winner when he was alive and working!

ANOTHER ITEM OF NEWS

It seems quite in keeping with the trend of the times—as reported above—that the tax costs of aid to families with children on relief have jumped by 118 per cent this year.

The moot question for the taxpayer seems to be just this: At what point does he cease to be a humane benefactor and become just a "plain sucker?" By all accounts, he has passed that point already!

CHILDREN HELPED BY LIONS CLUB PROJECT

53 HAVE RECEIVED FREE EYE CORRECTION

One of the most worthwhile projects conducted by any organization in Washington Township is one that is little known to most people here.

It is the Children's Eye Correction project sponsored and financed solely by the Centerville Lions Club.

In the past three years, since the project was undertaken, 53 needy children in Washington Township have benefitted by receiving free eye treatments and glasses.

FROM ALL COMMUNITIES

Irving Hird, chairman of the committee in charge of the administration of the project, revealed this week that more than $800 had been spent by the club during the past three years in correcting the eyesight of local children.

Children from all communities of the township have benefitted from the program. Hird stated that the number of children treated, and towns which they represent, are as follows: Centerville, 5; Newark, 2; Niles, 4; Decoto, 28; Mission San Jose, 5; Irvington, 8, and Alviso, 1.

All of the children who receive the free service are from families that are financially unable to pay for the eye treatments or glasses, yet are not eligible for county relief money.

FUNDS FROM PARTY

"We have had cases where a child was having difficulty in school due entirely to eye strain," Hird said this week. "An investigation was made, and where it was learned that the parents could not afford the added financial burden of examinations, treatments or glasses, the Lions Club has taken over the responsibility."

Hird went on to reveal that the project is sponsored solely by funds from the annual Lions Club whist party, held at the high school gymnasium. This year's party is to be held the evening of December 8 with A. E. Alameda as general chairman.

REV. FREEMAN NAMED SCOUT COMMISSIONER

The appointment of Rev. Arthur Freeman as Boy Scout Neighborhood Commissioner for Centerville was announced this week.

Rev. Freeman, who has served on the troop committee for the past three years, will succeed Phil Sousa, who has taken the position of Advancement Chairman for Washington Township.

The two troops in Rev. Freeman's area are the Centerville Boy Scout Troop, of which George Bonde Jr. is scoutmaster, and the Centerville Cub Pack, with Carl Miller serving as cubmaster.

HOMELESS MOTHER, 8 CHILDREN, FOUND

Thanksgiving night, at a time when other families of Washington Township were seated around bountiful tables giving thanks for the blessings they had received, a homeless young Decoto mother and her eight children were found hungry and cold, attempting to sleep in their old model car on a back street in Decoto.

The family was found by sheriff's deputies late Thanksgiving night huddled together in a dilapidated old automobile. Two of the windows were missing from the car and the youngsters, ranging in age from eight months to 12 years, were shivering and crying from the cold and hunger when they were found.

They were scantily clothed and two old blankets were all that protected them from the cold night air.

The mother, Mrs. Lucille Nunez, told the officers that her husband, Ignacio, is serving a jail sentence in Santa Rita Prison Farm following his conviction on a drunken driving charge.

She stated that they had been forced to move from the shack they had called home when authorities condemned it as unfit for living purposes.

She told the officers that she had been receiving $216 per month from county relief agencies, but had no money in her possession.

Welfare agencies came to her rescue and found temporary housing facilities.

County juvenile authorities reported yesterday that Mrs. Nunez had apparently managed to keep her family of children together, as they have not asked to be admitted to the juvenile home for care.

NOVELTY ITEMS AT CHURCH BAZAAR

Lending an air of mystery and excitement to the Ladies Guild bazaar to be held at the Niles Congregational Church on December 7 is the "unclaimed package" booth, which will simulate the post office's yearly auction of unclaimed packages.

This is only one of the many interesting booths that will attract attention at the bazaar and tea. Tea, which costs 35 cents and includes tea or coffee, cookies and open-faced sandwiches, will be served from one to five o'clock.

There will be many home-made delicacies on sale, such as fruit cake and plum pudding, as well as attractive hand-made articles for Christmas gifts. Also on sale will be hand-made rag dolls and story-book dolls.

The Shell Building in San Francisco is 29 stories high.

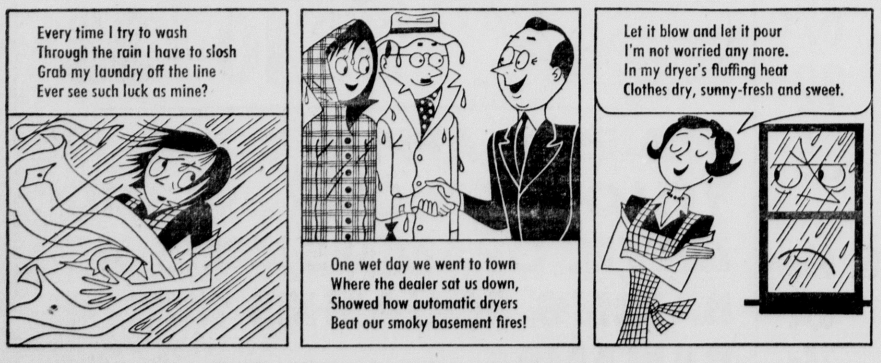
"Listen, Boy Scout, I want an automatic clothes dryer!"



Every time I try to wash
Through the rain I have to slosh
Grab my laundry off the line
Ever see such luck as mine?
One wet day we went to town
Where the dealer sat us down,
Showed how automatic dryers
Beat our smoky basement fires!
Let it blow and let it pour
I'm not worried any more.
In my dryer's fluffing heat
Clothes dry, sunny-fresh and sweet.

Ladies, an Automatic Home Laundry is a life saver... for you, your clothes, your budget. An electric washer does the hard work, washes everything from dungarees to dainties, quickly, gently, economically. An electric dryer fluff-dries your wash in gales of fresh warm air as sweet and clean as sunshine. An electric ironer does up to 70% of the average family ironing without effort. Combined, this automatic trio saves you days not hours, dollars not pennies! Talk to your dealer about demonstrations.

Best of all, your automatic home laundry operates at bargain rates here in California P. G. and E. rates are among the nation's lowest. Gas and electricity take less than 3¢ of your household dollar.

WASHINGTON SETS SIGHTS ON PENNANT WITH 'DREAM' TEAM

The Washington Union High School basketball season will open on December 6 and hopes are the brightest in a decade for a pennant-winning club.

Varsity Coach Clyde Voorhees had difficulty this week in describing the possibilities of his squad. Fearful of climbing out on the proverbial limb, Voorhees was quick to point to the strength of other squads in the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League.

At the same time, however, he could not hide the glint of approval in his eyes as he watched his rangy crew taking their preseason workouts.

Not since the season of 1941, when the Huskies tied for first place in the league race, have prospects been so bright for a pennant-winning team.

This year's probable starting line-up is the rangiest team ever to wear the black and orange, with the first five men averaging six feet in height, and all lettermen from last year's team.

At the forward position will be two seniors, Ralph Juhl, who stands six feet one-half inch, and George Silveira, five feet 11 inches.

Maurice Vargas, six foot-one inch senior, will be at the center post and the guards will be Kenneth Evans, five foot-11 inch senior, the "shortie" of the team, and Lloyd Davis, six-foot junior.

Juhl was the third highest scorer in the league last season and is expected to team up well with Evans, the quintet's most capable ball-handler.

The Huskies will have an opportunity to polish off the rough spots of their game in five pre-league games scheduled during the first two weeks of December. They open their league play on January 5 against San Jose Tech.

A new school, James Lick at San Jose, has been added to the league this season, making a total of 10 teams competing for the pennant.

SCHEDULES WHIST PARTY

The members of I.D.E.S. Council No. 1, Mission San Jose, have announced that they will sponsor a benefit whist party on the evening of January 26 at their hall in Mission. Ralph Souza, council president, will be in charge of arrangements.

BIG PARTY IS PLANNED FOR LOCAL YOUNGSTERS

On December 16, "kiddies day" at the Garden of Allah, a free skating party will be held for children between the ages of one to fifteen. All children in the local area are invited to come. The door prize is a shiny new bicycle.

Five prominent women in child activities are working with the committee. They are: Julia Wauhab, Jerry Hudson, Roberta Ritchey and Gena Barks.

Other prizes will be donated by Local 3367 under the ledership of President Barks and various organizations of the township.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

United Steel Workers of America, Local 3367 of Passco Plant, is forming a Rod and Gun Club. There will be a spot for hunting and fishing for all members.

Entry fees will be used for various activities such as fishing derbys, turkey shoots and other outdoor events. Come on, sports lovers, let's back this up. Those interested, contact E. Ferrell, B. Barks or H. Avilla.

CHILDREN'S FUND GROWS

The turkey raffle held at Passco and sponsored by Local 3367, was a huge success. President Barks states, "A special fund has been opened with the profits going to the newly formed Child Welfare Fund."

The committee wishes to express their thanks to all who participated to make this a huge success.

LOSES A BET

Oakie Joe spent a joyous Thanksgiving dinner at home. The turkey was fine but Joe had to divide it in five halves. How? He lost a bet. Oh, well, feathers are better than —?

TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Allan Slattengren and his charming wife, Dolores, traveled to Torrence in Southern California for their Thanksgiving feast. Just like "Red," spending an hour visiting a steel mill. Guess it's in his blood.

NEW ADDITION

An emergency maternity case developed in the 26-inch mill day turn last week. "Dr." B. L. H. rushed home to deliver a bouncing baby calf.

PLENTY TO EAT

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Avilla and family enjoyed a triple feast on Thanksgiving. After eating one dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Smith in Hayward, they rode to Niles and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. F. Avilla Sr., then back home to enjoy a midnight dinner.

BABY AND HAIRCUT

Whitey of the 26-inch mill has a new bouncing baby in his family. Just to prove it he got his ears lowered. Oh boy, fresh air!

TRAGEDY STRIKES

Hoy Odom is suffering great shock. Seems his rabbits died—all but one female. Old proverb, one female rabbit is worth a buck.

NEW BABY

Mrs. Don Watkins presented Don with a bouncing baby girl, nee Carol Ann.

GETS MARRIED

Ralph Brakke of the bricklayers gang tired of single life and is now in double harness. Went to Reno over the week-end.

HE'S SINGING

Ray Seccombe spent a pleasant Thanksgiving dinner. True to form, he has been singing while he works. Wonder why?

TOO STRONG

It seems H. Nelson has been catching too many fish lately. He either lets them go, or jerks the hook out of their mouth. Such brute strength.

INVENTOR

MAKE IT A DATE

Big dance! U. S. Steelworkers of America, Local 3367, at Garden of Allah, December 16, 8 p.m. Donation $1.00. Dance to the music of Marvin Ray and his colorful band!

See your dance committee for the tickets. Let's go the limit on our first dance in a long time.

President Barks states, "Success is made through you, the members of the local, and our township."

CHIT-CHAT

Big John spent Thanksgiving day at Tracy fishing. Result, late to work one day. Getting old, John?

Chet Gellerman went pheasant hunting last week and enjoyed a swim getting home.

New song around the 26-inch mill during break down on day shift, "My Old Flame."

Arthur Martin has a new profession "rubbing noses." Oh well, Durante is a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gilliland enjoyed dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson of Niles.

To the sweet and lovely Marion C. of the office crew: Bet you five and take Michigan, plus.

Buford Barks is now driving a new car. He looks fast and colorful in his new car. Oh well, all '32 Chevs were new once.

Oakie Joe returned to work Monday feeling wonderful. Seems Joe's Corner ran out of his favorite beverage Sunday.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE!

Here's to Your Health

By DR. JAMES C. MALCOLM
Health Officer, Alameda County Health Department

What happens to the person who is found to have tuberculosis? Since we have pointed out that 83 persons in Washington Township have this serious disease and twice that many more have it but do not know it, you can see that this is a timely question. It is important because treatment is often long and costly, and frequently it is the breadwinner of the family who is ill.

The foundation of treatment is complete rest in bed. However, bed rest alone may not be enough. In recent years many other methods of treatment have been discovered, among them various methods of collapsing the lung, and several new drugs. These new treatments are available in any modern sanitorium. Even in those cases that are found early, and in whom treatment may be relatively simple, most physicians recommend a period of hospitalization so that the sick person can become accustomed to staying in bed, and can learn how to avoid spreading his germs to others. Often it is possible to return home for rest in bed, if the home is large enough to isolate the patient from other people, and if there is someone in the home to bring meals and give needed care.

Where do people go for hospitalization in our county? If the family can afford it, the physican will send the sick person to a private sanitorium. If the family is unable to pay for hospitalization, the sick person is eligible for care at Arroyo Del Valle, the county tuberculosis sanitorium. The need for hospital treatment is the first stumbling block because at this time there are not nearly enough beds to meet the demand. Waiting lists are long and discouraging to the family after it has made up its mind that hospitalization is necessary. Frequently, the home is so small that it is difficult to prevent spread of the disease to others in the family while awaiting hospitalization. With the limited facilities at hand, doctors are doing everything possible to help the sick person to better health. To meet the emergency, the county has instituted a home care plan by which patients are sent to the hospital for a short time and given instruction on how to care for themselves at home. Then they are sent home and doctors, paid by the county, visit the patient and give treatment and care. Public health nurses check on the home situation to see whether there could be separated bed and a separate room for the patient and someone to give needed care at home. All too often it is a small home with many children, and the isolation of the sick person seems impossible. Home care cannot be recommended in such cases; so the hospital waiting list grows longer.

Many people ask about employing persons who have had tuberculosis. We feel that more tuberculosis is spread from apparently healthy people who do not know they have the disease, than from people who know they have had it and have recovered. During treatment patients learn how to protect other people and they learn the need for regular medical check-ups. Therefore, people who are "cured" are well able to return to work at a suitable job.

The person with tuberculosis is a member of a family, and the health, financial security, and happiness of the entire family is affected by the disease. You can readily see, therefore, that this is a problem for all of us to work on together.

INFANT SON OF DONATO PULICOS DIES

HOLIDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Santos welcomed daughter Mildred Steele, and grandson, Douglas of Soda Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey and daughter Linda, and Mrs. Pete Brayovich and daughter Midge to Thanksgiving dinner at their home, but Pete Brayovich, who hasn't missed a good dinner at Mom Santos' for many years, could not be there as the doctor had just decided to keep him in the hospital following a serious operation.

SUNDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cross and family, accompanied by Grandmother Wilcox, motored to Redwood City for Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Cross and boys.

DOING WELL

We are very glad to hear that Frank Dias, our local carpenter, is home again from the hospital in San Rafael, where he underwent surgery for an old foot injury and, according to reports, he seems to be doing well and may use his bad foot before long.

A REAL THRILL

Miss Ann Untiedt, freshman at the San Jose State College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Untiedt of the Mission, gave her little sister, Sonya, the treat of her young life over the Thanksgiving holiday by taking her by airplane to see their older sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kimber at Pomona. When Sonya was asked how she liked her airplane ride, she said, "It was great fun." You're a lucky little girl for you are only six and most of us from six to sixty have never even been inside of one let alone really taking a nice long ride.

TO SELMA

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Semas of Helen's Fountain and Mr. and Mrs. George Enos and daughter, all went to Selma on Thanksgiving day to spend it with Mrs. Manuel Enos, their mother.

GAY HOLIDAY

Mary Rodrigues' home here, next to the library, was a scene of fun and laughter over the holiday as mother and dad Lawrence, the Leonard Amarals of Sunnyvale, Mrs. Marie Cunha and daughters of Newark, and Mary's family joined in thanks around a lovely dinner table filled to overflowing with wonderful food.

PLASTIC PARTY

A very nice Plastic Party was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Jacquie Fernandez with her sister-in-law, Miss Nadine Fernandez, as co-hostess. Many lovely plastic articles were demonstrated, after which the girls served refreshments to their guests.

IN THE HOSPITAL

We are all very sorry to hear that our friend and neighbor, Mr. Bert McIvor, blacksmith and hardware man here, is confined to the hospital undergoing many tests to determine the cause of his illness. He is not too good at this writing but we hope that by next week we will see him home at least.

HECTIC TIME

The Norman Kamp family (former Elaine Justus) just about didn't make it down to this area from Placerville last week-end to spend Thanksgiving, for Norman was marooned on the other side of Twin Bridges with the roadway to Tahoe gone, but by hiking around the mountain he arrived home in time to accompany the family, who had called Nana Bottenberg, who made a flying trip up to bring the family out, back to the Mission. They went to Walnut Creek to be with Mr. Kamp's folks for a family reunion, while Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Santos and Diane and Michael of Lakeport spent Thanksgiving day at the Bottenbergs. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. "Bud" Justus and family spent the early part of Thanksgiving day visiting with the rest of the family, then went to Mrs. Justus' parents home, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jibson of Niles, where they had dinner with Great-grandmother Jibson, who was down from Idaho for the holidays with her son, Bill.

USUAL GOOD TIME

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Telles was the same as many years before with Mr. and Mrs. Claire Telles and family of Centerville, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Valencia of San Jose, Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Cunha and Janice and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hays and Stanley, all doing a wonderful job of getting stuffed with all the grand food on the Thanksgiving table.

SYMPATHY

We all extend deep sympathy to our friends, Aya and Yoshita Tamura and David for Aya's mother went to join her ancestors last week. We did not know the mother, but if she was like her daughter, she was indeed a very nice person.

A SURPRISE!

Talk about surprises. We sure got one Wednesday for Ed Chambers came to the post office and told us that daughter Beverly had gone to visit Grandmother Chambers in Loomis over Thanksgiving week and that she and her fiance, Joe Lopez, came down to get permission from Ed and Jo to get married. And as the story goes, "They were." Now Beverly, age 17, and Joe, age 21, are making their home in Roseville until he gets their new home built. They will both attend night school as she wishes to get her diploma this spring. Good luck to a very lovely young lady.

RECUPERATING

We are sorry to learn that Margaret Spetti, who has been employed in San Francisco for some time, was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy and is now recuperating here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matheus Silva of Ellsworth Street.

LET'S FILL IT!

Mr. Nathan Click, principal of the elementary school here, has asked that we make it known that there will be a box placed in a convenient place in the Mission so those having toys they wish to donate to the Lions Club, which in turn is sending them to the fire departments for repairs for the needy at Christmas time, can leave them so the drivers can pick them up as fast as the box gets full. The boys and girls of the school have already filled a box with more coming up. If you have toys and other things usable for the children at this time, please try to get them in as soon as possible so they can be repaired and painted before the holidays.

STAYING HERE

MOVE TO NILES

Not because they didn't like the town but because he wanted to be closer to his work, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Moore and family moved to Niles last week. They had been occupying one of the Whiteside apartments on Vallejo Street.

ON BUSINESS

Mrs. Edith Smith and two daughters, Rae and Imogene, were in the Mission recently on business. They are the owners of the temporarily closed Guadelupe Inn and live on their farm in Campbell.

Reverend Father O'Malley of San Francisco is now making his home in the Mission as parish pastor of the Holy Family Sisters at the Palmdale Estates.

According to Mrs. Earl Wilburn, program chairman, entertainment will be presented by eighth grade pupils in the form of folk dances under the direction of Mrs. James Collins, second grade teacher.

Refreshments will be served by the hostesses under the guidance of the new hospitality chairman, Mrs. Pearl Forrest.

SHRINE CLUB TO HOLD STAG PARTY

Members of the Southern Alameda County Shrine Club will hold their annual final stag party of the year at Pland's Villa in San Lorenzo on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6, at 7 o'clock, at which time there will be the election of directors for the ensuing year. The directors will then, in turn, retire for ten minutes and elect their president, first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary, treasurer and sergeant at arms.

In addition to the dinner, the committee has arranged a very interesting evening of entertainment.

NEW NURSERY LIKES TOWNSHIP CLIMATE

Mild climate, good soil, and good water were the deciding factors in favor of Washington Township as the location for a nursery, according to Joseph Frades Jr. who, with his father, has purchased four acres of the Pederson property on Decoto Road as a growing ground and site for a wholesale and retail salesyard for nursery stock.

"We had a nursery in Concord prior to coming here," said Frades, "but the climate was too hot. We selected the site here because it has all the assets necessary for a good nursery business."

Frades' father has been in the nursery business for 14 years. He plans to live on the nursery property, while his son and his wife will live in the new home they purchased in Centerville Acres.

The Frades family has extensive plans for their nursery business here. Eventually they will build green houses for propagating, and will erect a salesroom where seeds, garden tools, and garden supplies will be on display.

"We will have everything in nursery stock and garden supplies so that our patrons can make it a one-stop stand," said Frades, who added that they plan to make this nursery a long-term business, "probably for the rest of our lives."

TWO LOCAL HOUSE BURGLARIES SOLVED

Two local burglaries, dating back as far as October of 1949, have been closed on the records of local sheriff's deputies during the past week and the majority of the loot recovered.

A Berkeley man, John Joseph Willison, 64, was arrested in Sacramento for illegal possession of a gun and was found to be wearing some of the clothing taken in the October 3 burglary of the Artoro Andaya home in Irvington. Local officers found the remainder of the approximately $600 in loot from the Andaya home among Willison's possessions at his living quarters in Berkeley. He will be returned here for trial.

A federal court in San Francisco this week sentenced Ted Yamamoto of Winters to 18 months in McNeil Island prison for forging endorsements on two government checks taken in October of 1949 from the home of Kiyome Kato in Warm Springs.

Yamamoto burglarized the Kato home and among the loot taken were two government insurance checks, made payable to the family for the loss of their son in World War II. Yamamoto admitted cashing one of the checks in a Warm Springs store but could not recall where he cashed the second.

He was arrested in New York, and at the time of his arrest was still carrying a watch taken from the Kato home.

During the War of the Revolution numerous colonial newspaper editors were forced to flee before the advancing British army.

MRS. TRUMAN CAPTURES AUDIENCE WITH BOOK REVIEW DEALING WITH CRISIS

An enthralled audience of almost 50 women last Wednesday evening heard Mrs. Lloyd Truman of Oakland give a dynamic presentation of a book entitled "Incredible Tales," before members and guests of the Arts Appreciation Section of the Country Club.

The meeting, held at the home of Mrs. J. A. McDonald, proved to be one of the most interesting in the history of the Section.

"It seems almost coincidence," said Mrs. Truman in the begining of her review, "that I should have chosen this book to review tonight. I selected it several weeks ago, not knowing of course how critical the situation would look tonight. The book, you see, deals with four men who have shaped the destiny of the first half of this century, and two of these men are Lenin and Stalin. It will be interesting to all of us to learn more of the backgrounds of these figures, something of their ideologies, and the events that led up to the present world crisis."

Mrs. Truman was right. The group, most of whom had heard Secretary of State Dean Acheson tell over the radio of the grave situation in the Orient just an hour before, listened eagerly to what author Johnson had to say about Russia, through the able presentation of the reviewer.

The other men of destiny, Franklin Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, were eulogized by the author who predicted that only time and future historians could give Roosevelt the place in history which is his right.

When Mrs. Truman presented the author's ideas about Eleanor Roosevelt, however, there was a stir of commotion in the audience, indicating that the group was ready to disagree on the attributes of this provocative woman. No heated discussion ensued, however, and the meeting ended on a note of solemnity as the book, through the interpretation of Mrs. Truman, had served to make everyone in the audience keenly aware of the immensity of the world problem and of the danger of national catastrophe if the United States continues its present imperialistic policies.

Mrs. Truman ended the review by quoting the author's belief that there is still hope for the survival of our civilization, and that hope lies with the electorate, which is, more specifically, the common man.

Co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Roland Bendel. Because of the nature of the program, each member was allowed to invite one guest. The McDonald living-room was consequently filled to overflowing.

This was the second time that Mrs. Truman, daughter of Mrs. Dora Mae Scudder of Niles, had appeared before the Arts Section. And for the second time she received the hearty endorsement of the entire assemblage for her superb performance as a reviewer.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

LINGERIE AND WOOLENS NEED SPECIAL CARE

by the General Electric Consumers Institute

In mother's day a week's wash was a major undertaking requiring brawn as well as brain. Today almost all washable clothes can be trusted to the washing machine and nothing special need be done about them.

There are, however, a few items such as lingerie and woolens which should receive individual attention. Here are some tips from the General Electric Consumers Institute which will make it easier to take care of these special garments.

Lingerie

Always make repairs before laundering lingerie. Use zig-zag stitches on elastic sections of girdles, corsets and brassieres. Be sure zippers are closed.

Since the fabrics in lingerie are particularly sensitive to body soil, they should be washed as soon as possible after wearing. This is the reason underthings are usually washed daily by hand and not left to accumulate for the washing machine. If properly "done-up" and timed, however, machine washing of even your finest lingerie produces spotless results.

Here's how it's done: Place a few garments in each of several pillow cases; close the cases with basting stitches across the top (using color-fast thread); and wash 3 to 5 minutes—no more—in machine.

In everyday hand-washing, your lingerie should never be left in water to soak, as the dirt will be absorbed by the fabric. Wash quickly and gently, squeezing lukewarm suds through each piece. Sprinkle additional mild soap on stubborn spots and work it in carefully with a soft brush or your fingertips. Rinse in warm water until the soap is completely gone; then roll briefly in a turkish towel to absorb moisture (do not twist or wring). Shape foundation garments and hang them doughnut-fashion over a rod or cord to dry. Other lingerie dries most satisfactorily on hangers. Never dry garments over direct radiated heat.

Dark-colored lingerie should be washed separately for it is likely to bleed each time it is laundered.

Nylon garments are washed much the same as other fabrics. Since it sheds water, nylon dries quickly but also drips considerably. When you lift a piece from the last rinse, roll it briefly in an absorbent bath towel, unroll and shake to remove wrinkles.

Iron on the wrong side while still damp (unless you are steam ironing, which can be done on the right side when dry). Start with the materials requiring the lowest temperature settings, such as rayons; then go to your silks which require a little more heat, and so on.

Knitwear

Before washing sweaters and other knitted wool garments, remove any buttons or ornaments that might rust or run; then measure the garment either with a tape measure or by outlining it on a large piece of paper. Take note of particularly soiled spots so they can have special attention.

Wash knitwear in lukewarm water and rich soap suds, squeezing the suds through the garment; do not rub two parts together as this will cause matting. Soiled spots, particularly the cuffs and neck of a sweater, should be worked gently with well soaped fingers; do not rub bar soap directly on the wool. Be sure to rinse thoroughly in at least three waters of the same temperature as the wash water.

Dry woolens wrong side out and away from direct heat or sunlight. Place flat on your paper outline or shaped to fit the measurements you recorded. Hold the top of the stitching on the neckline, cuffs and bottom of a sweater and pull gently lengthwise, so they will dry back to their original size. When dry, fluff up the wool with a gentle brushing.

Smooth woolens should be pressed when dry. Place a press cloth over the garment, sprinkle with water and iron. Too much moisture may cause shrinking. If you are using a steam iron, set the control to exhaust as much steam as possible and press garments on the right side. It may be desirable to use a pressing cloth.

Sweaters should never be put on hangers between wearings because the weight of the wool will square off the shoulders and the body of the sweater will sag. Fold them as you do your blouses and keep in drawer.

RODENTS STARVED BY COLD WEATHER

Cold weather starvation is one of Nature's means of reducing the population of field rodents that are smaller than ground squirrels.

For survival in cold weather, many kinds of small mammals such as field and meadow mice, kangaroo rats, and deermice have to eat several times as much food as they do in summer, according to investigations by Walter E. Howard of the zoology division of the University of California Agricultural Experiment Station.

To maintain the body temperatures, small rodents need greater amounts of food in proportion to their weights than do larger animals.

"When it gets cold, they apparently are unable to break down the stored body fat rapidly enough to prevent starvation," said the Davis zoologist. "Repeated examinations have shown that even when the bodies still retained stored fat, exposure to cold resulted in death unless there was ample food.

"Nesting material and huddling provide insulation that conserves to body heat. As a result, small mammals may then be able to utilize their stored fat before dying of starvation."

CHRISTMAS PARCELS SHOULD BE MAILED EARLY

Postmasters of the township warned local residents this week that they must do their Christmas mailing earlier than usual if they expect delivery by December 25.

The anticipated increase in Yule mailing, in addition to the arrival of mail from troops overseas, is expected to swamp post offices throughout the nation during the next three weeks.

Cards and packages mailed during the final week before Christmas cannot be expected to reach any distant destination by Christmas, they warned.

NEW USES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

During the last few years the price of Florida oranges has risen from about fifty cents to three dollars and fifty cents per box.

This surge has not been due entirely to inflationary factors, according to the University Explorer, but it can be traced largely to the development of a new product since the war—frozen orange juice.

The Explorer describes this development along with many other processes that have made possible new uses for our agricultural products in a story called "New Foods from Old," which will be broadcast on Sunday, December 3, over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Dr. William V. Cruess, professor of food technology on the Berkeley fod technology on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

The broadcast will be released over KCBS, San Francisco, from 12:45 to 1 p.m.

DEFENSE PLANS

the heading of old business, filed another plea Wednesday evening for the Chamber to renew its campaign for the state to take over the operation of the Dumbarton Bridge.

George Oakes urged the Chamber to endorse a plan for a new assembly district for Southern Alameda County.

The Chamber was informed by the State Highway Department that the installation of a traffic light at the highway junction near Warm Springs will not be included in its program for the coming year.

The Roads and Highways committee, composed of Peter Juhl, John Souza and Manuel Seoane, was instructed to investigate a complaint of the multiple names for roads in this area.

An appeal was also filed for the expenditure of funds here by the newly formed Alameda County Flood and Drainage Control District to prevent the re-occurrence of a damaging flood such as inundated Alvarado recently.

YULE GIFTS ON SALE AT WELFARE TOUR

Buy your Christmas decorations at the Child Welfare shop while making a tour of four Washington Township homes on Sunday, Dec. 10, suggests Mrs. Allan Walton of Centerville, president of the club which serves nearly 200 needy children of this area.

Wreaths, cones and novelty decorations are being made by the 37 members of the club for the benefit sale.

Contrasting motifs for Christmas decorations will be seen at the home of Mrs. Edna Ebright at Niles where her hobby of collecting antique and early American furniture will furnish a background for old-fashioned holiday, and at the home of Mrs. John Stevenson in Centerville where modern furnishings will be supplemented with the "new look" in Yule decorations.

Tea will be served at the Walton home on Thornton Avenue at Centerville where Mrs. Walton will be assisted by Mesdames L. E. Bailey, Mrs. James Logan who is chairman of decorations, and Mrs. Eugene Manning.

Tickets for the tea and tour may be purchased from any of the club members or at the homes which will be open for inspection from 1 to 6 p.m.

The Mohave Indians are the tallest of all Arizona Indians.
